APPLE GUARD: What does it cover?

1. What are the coverages of this plan?

This is an "All Risks" laptop insurance plan covering for loss due to theft and robbery, as well as accidental damage including liquid spillage.

2. What is NOT covered under this policy?

- a) Acts of negligence
- b) War, nuclear/radioactive contamination and terrorism
- c) Loss or damage due to:
  - Wear and tear
  - Atmospheric conditions
  - Dishonest acts by insured
  - Faulty design
  - Unexplained loss or mysterious disappearance
  - Consequential loss of any kind
  - Penalties and fines
  - Loss or damage caused during any repairs, servicing or maintenance

3. What is an Excess?

An excess is the first amount the insured is required to bear in the event of a claim being filed. The policy has an excess of $200 for each and every claim made.

For example, the repair cost of a MacBook that has been damaged is $1,000 repair. The insured will bear the first $200 of the repair cost, while the insurer will reimburse the insured of $800

4. What is Co-Insurance?

Co-insurance is applicable only in a total loss claim. Co-Insurance refers to the claim amount shared between the insurer and the insured.

Year 1: Replacement cost subject to 10% co-insurance

Year 2: Replacement cost subject to 20% co-insurance

Year 3: Replacement cost subject to 35% co-insurance

Year 4: Replacement cost subject to 50% co-insurance

5. How does co-insurance work?

In the event of a total loss incident, the policy covers for replacement cost less co-insurance or excess amount (whichever is higher).

For Example, the replacement cost of a MacBook is $2,000. Depending on which year the loss took place.

Yr	Co-insurance		Co-insurance for parents (a)	Standard Excess (b)	Amount Paid by Parents
	Parents	Insurer
1	10%	90%	$200	$350	$350
2	20%	80%	$400	$350	$400
3	35%	65%	$700	$350	$700
4	50%	50%	$1,000	$350	$1,000

Parents will pay the higher of column (a) or column (b). The insurer will cover the remaining cost for replacing the computer.

6. What is Replacement cost?

Replacement cost refers to the cost of replacing the lost MacBook with the closest available unit (but not better) in terms of functions, capacity and output.

7. What are the claim procedures for accidental damage and loss?

Claims are to be filed at www.rizksolutions.net under Laptop Insurance Claim.
